At 26, Izzie Lang decided she wanted to commence a career in swimming. She started working as a part time assistant teacher and lifeguard with Brighton Swimming School and quickly trained as a qualified swimming teacher whilst also taking on a full time coordinators post. Izzie's employers shortly afterwards took over the running of a school pool facing closure and quickly turned it around into the highly successful Brighton Swimming Centre.

Izzie Lang commented - "we knew what to do in pools but not how to run them - it was a sharp learning curve and we had to learn fast!" Izzie was promoted to Centre Manager and set about putting professional systems in place. Izzie received training from Swim UK throughout her time in the UK from being a lifeguard to an ASA Tutor.

Izzie (now 30) recently took up a Regional Management post on the Gold Coast in Queensland said - "It has taken a lot of hard work and dedication to get to this stage, but I'm sure the lifestyle change will be more than worth it, it is never too late to dream big! I am looking forward to working outside at a 50m pool, plus one of the pools is going to be used in the 2018 Commonwealth Games, so keep an eye out!"

Australia and New Zealand are both offering 4 year work permits to qualified UK Swimming Teachers and their partners.
